Persona

A photographic exhibition by the

Australian National Veterans Arts Museum (ANVAM)

Friday February 24 to Sunday March 5 – Open daily 10am – 2pm

Bright RSL has its Centenary this year. The Bright Art Gallery will host an exhibition by Australian National Veterans Arts Museum (ANVAM) situated in Melbourne, titled PERSONA. The Bright Art Gallery is honoured to be the first regional gallery to host an ANVAM travelling exhibition!

Persona is a commemorative project raising awareness of the cultural and creative engagements of Australian contemporary veteran artists. The project took shape in 2017 with the chance meeting of ANVAM founder, Tanja Johnston, and professional photographer, Michael Christofas. Tanja and Michael brought their interests in showcasing 'who veteran artists are' together to form Persona. The exhibition features 48 photographic artist portraits plus some digital video footage.

ANVAM was established in 2013 in response to the growing need for an innovative model of care in veterans' wellbeing. As a veteran led charity and Public Benevolent Institution, ANVAM supports the mental, physical and social wellbeing of current and former service members and families through community-based facilitated Arts engagements.

The exhibition will be opened on Friday morning at 10am by Kat Rae. You are invited to attend, the gallery will put on a morning tea and Kat will talk about her experiences in the Army and how it affected her life. Printmaker Kat, pictured on the left is one of the photographic subjects and was instrumental, together with Tony Strachan from Bright RSL, in making the Bright exhibition happen.

The Bristol Royal Infirmary (BRI) by Norma Bull

Over a year ago, the Gallery received a donation of a Norma Bull painting from a generous donor. There was no evidence of a title with the painting, but on the back of it the initials BRI were written in black felt-tip pen. This stood for Bristol Royal Infirmary. As Norma spend the war years documenting the effects of war on the Bristol area, this made sense. However, during the last few weeks, many visitors to the gallery have pointed out that the building is not in fact the BRI, but the paper mill in Fyansford near Geelong. The painting has been given a new working title of Old Paper Mill, Fyansford Geelong. It demonstrates how artists needed to use and re-use art materials because of acute shortages during and after the war.

President's Prattle

Hello members

I hope everyone had a pleasant festive season. Certainly, we couldn't complain about the heat-although as I write this, things are starting to warm up!

The Summer exhibition is proceeding well, with quite a number of impressed visitors through the door to see all the lovely work by the Alpine Artists, not to forget the display of some new Norma Bull paintings. And there have been enough sales to make it all worthwhile. Thanks to all the volunteers who have volunteered for desk or other duties.

Hopefully we will be able to return to more normality this year. Unfortunately, Café Culture as we knew it has been a victim of the pandemic, but we will be attempting to organise at least a couple of replacement shows in the coming months.

In addition, we will try to organise some workshops, using both local and visiting artists. If you have a particular suggestion or preference in this regard, then please contact us.

Best wishes for the year ahead,

Steve
